I understand increasing fines to deter violations. However, as a part time resident I find the fine for garage spill violation a little unreasonable. I have concern for the rude neighbor (could be a renter) who might use my bear bin, not close it correctly and have a bear "spill" my garbage. I would have no idea that it happened but I assume you would send me the fine. Does that mean I have to get a camera on my bear box? Please consider this scenario when deciding on the fines. I would like to know what it would take to appeal such a fine.
